

Chapter Seven Part Three

Something bad and rotten lurks. Let us now notate something of value concerning the bad. Our next secretive story takes us to Austria and Germany.

We enter the digital age of information. By way of a May 6, 2016 email of a Rev. Brian W. Harrison from a professor Dr.

Alice von Hildebrand, who wrote of a meeting in 1965 she and her husband Dietrich had with a priest named Monsignor Mario Boehm, in Florence, a reader is provided a corroboration of what Cardinal Ciappi talked about in 1995.

The telephone Conversation leads us off.

In the private letter, the email of May 6, Doctor von Hildebrand told Rev. Harrison about a 1965 conversation in Florence. The following is historically accurate. Rev. Harrison cited part of the May 6 correspondence:

Dear Father, I think the following two conversations, which I recall very well from the 1960s, are of particular interest now, in these deeply troubled times half a century later. For they apparently corroborate Cardinal Ciappi's testimony that part of Our Lady's Fatima secret was the shocking prediction that the great apostasy in the Church would begin "at the top."

(Doctor von Hildebrand then mentioned Monsignor Boehm who had been from the 1930s-

1940s, a leading member of the editorial staff of L'Osservatore Romano.

She continued) The topic of Fatima came up. My husband raised the question, "Why was the third secret of Fatima not revealed?" The question was posed to Monsignor Boehm.

Don Mario: "It was not revealed because of its content."

My husband: "What was so fearful about it?"

Monsignor Boehm (as a well-trained Italian) did not say that he had read it, but intimated that the content was fearful: "infiltration of the Church to the very top"

It shattered us but confirmed my husband's fear that the way Vatican II was interpreted, was going to expose the Church to terrible dangers.

(We now relate a brief meeting Alice had in the Fall of 1965, with a Bella Dodd in New York, who was an ardent communist from her early days at Hunter College. Dodd converted to Catholicism in 1952.)

Professor von Hildebrand: Let me repeat the conversation between her and my husband:

DvH: "I fear the Church has been infiltrated."

Bella: "You fear it, dear Professor; I know it! When I was an ardent Communist, I was working in close contact with four cardinals in the Vatican working for us; and they are still very active today."

DvH: "Who are they? My nephew Dieter Sattler is a German who is stationed at the Holy See."

But Bella, who was under the spiritual guidance of Archbishop Sheen, declined to give him this information."

The above was brought to light on May 12, 2016 in the journal OnePeterFive, a website. The above was part of a long article on several topics by Father Harrison that included the beginning of the 100th Anniversary of Our Lady of Fatima, Amoris Laetitia, and Ciappi. That May 12 correspondence has since disappeared. Within this framework, a full 20 years after Cardinal Ciappi made his stunning disclosure about part of the 3rd Secret, which is not so translucent, it is not so nice to say what the Vatican did, but if it stands by itself, is it alright? However, that is not enough.

By way of the letter dated May 12, 2016, written by Reverend Harrison, we are given another tidbit of history. Reverend Harrison was the one who brought to light the events and stories in the first place, when he posted his email correspondence on OnePeter Five. He has been privileged to know Alice von Hildebrand for twenty years, and gave us the very important testimony of our professor.

Hot on the heels of that, three days later, surfaced another correspondence that the author considers very important. However, before we get into that, I want to further add what Father Harrison wrote before it blows away. Sister Lucia had written a letter in 1980 to the new head of the new Pontifical Institute for studies on marriage and the family. He was Monsignor (now Cardinal) Carlo Caffarra. He had asked her for her prayers for his new undertaking. Before Caffarra died in 2017, he proceeded to make her letter, with her signature, known to the public, which had taken Caffarra by surprise in 1980. She wrote him,

"The final battle between the Lord and the reign of Satan will be about marriage and the family. Don't be afraid, because anyone who works for the sanctity of marriage and the family will always be contended and opposed in every way, for this is the decisive issue."

Now let us approach another message, from also 2016. By way of another article, by Doctor Maik Hickson also in OnePeterFive, dated May 15, 2016 we find Doctor Hickson telling us about a phone call with Reverend Ingo Dollinger, who lived from nineteen twenty-nine to 2 thousand and seventeen.

Reverend Dollinger was a good friend of then Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger Pope Benedict XVI today). Dollinger flew several times a year back and forth to Brazil, even raising 19 million in Deutschmark donations in order to establish a university. He loved working with the Catholic Scouts of Europe, and had Padre Pio as his confessor for many years.

There is a story that the first time he met the Italian Padre Pio (Saint. Padre Pio now) and presented himself as Don Ingo, St. Padre Pio insisted,

"No, Your real name is Waah-Keen"

What a statement to make. Where in heaven's name did that come from?
That seemed unbelievable.

Dollinger could not believe him. He had never ever been called Waah-Keen. Dollinger returned very perplexed. Not until he returned back home and personally asked his mother, did the truth come out. When he was baptized, the priest who baptized him, for some unexplained reason, did not say Ingo but called him Waah-Keen."

The story of Dollinger and Ratzinger has been long lost in a certain way.

Let us

look into what once appeared in a 2009 journal entry of the Fatima Crusader, issue 92, May 2009 (see also issue 93 Autumn 2009). Honestly, this author can't say he remembers it. I've been researching Fatima for over 20 years and that includes anything about Father Gruner, and I have much material on him including many of his Crusader issues but, whether I meant to read it later or had read it but don't remember if I paid attention to it, or if I just totally forgot, or maybe had skimmed over it and had planned to reread it, later, for whatever reason, it flew the coop, until now. On that May 15, Hickson had a special telephone conversation with Dollinger, the former professor of theology in Brazil, who reconfirmed what he had said Ratzinger had revealed, that there is still a part of the Third Secret that they have not published!

"There is more than what we published,
" Ratzinger had told him.

Dollinger also confirmed over the phone,
"the published part of the Secret is authentic and that the unpublished part of the Secret speaks about a bad council and a bad Mass" that was to come in the near future.

Years before "pertaining to the same story", there are added details. It pertains to this 2009 article, in it the author Reverend Paul Kramer disclosed our story goes even further back in time. Dollinger it seems was a several long decades friend of Ratzinger. It either nineteen ninety or nineteen ninety one, that Ratzinger had told his friend the Third secret not only speaks of an "evil council" but, the Blessed Mother warned against changing the liturgy of the Mass, which if true, really is something quite radical, for it intones first those "changes" began to take place only after Vatican II, and the Virgin had warned them. Secondly, it implies the "a" word: apostasy. When Vatican II commenced, it started with John XXIII but ended with Paul VI. Neither of the two took the words of Our Blessed Lady seriously. Paul VI is more credited with allowing the changes of the liturgy of the Mass to take hold, changes which old timers will tell you was more than just saying Mass in your native language rather than Latin. It's called the Novus Ordo Mass of the 60s. Father Joseph Gelineau was the right-hand man of Archbishop Bugnini, who was the architect of the new rite of Mass, and who had once stated, the old Roman Rite, has been destroyed. Needless to say, the pros and cons are many and are not the subject of this report.

Kramer stated in his article Our Lady of Fatima warned in the Third Secret not to make specifically this kind of change in the liturgy.

Until this whole business came to light, it was all in a background mode to me, and perhaps many people, of something spoken about before from radicals but not specifically connected to the 3rd Secret. In the 2009 article, Kramer related a strange anecdote of when Dollinger was in Brazil and was speaking to one of his students. Exactly as he was telling the story that Our Lady warned against changing the Mass and there would be an evil Council in the Church, a plume of smoke arose from the floor in a mysterious way that it was not supposed to for the floor was made of marble. It could not be explained as a natural phenomena.

It was after the public disclosure of the Third Secret in 2000, the Fatima module, that Dollinger made his way to see his old friend Ratzinger, then Secretary of the Congregation of the Faith, why the details that he had revealed to him a decade earlier were different. The following is what Ratzinger told Dollinger as the Cardinal hurriedly sped by,

“Really, there is more there.

We must remember what Ratzinger said 3 years before he resigned as Pope in 2013. He had said: We would be mistaken to think that Fatima's prophetic mission is complete. However, he also stated, it must be remembered, in 1984, that the 3rd Secret is about the dangers threatening the faith and the life of the Christian, and the last times. (keypoint 92.)

A May 21, 2016 unsigned Press Communiqué went public trying to deny the story of Dollinger and the Third Secret. Close to Christmas of 2016, on December 21, a Giuseppe Nardi, editor of the German Catholic website Katholisches dot info, met a close friend of Dollinger by the name of Gottfried Kiniger. Kiniger lived in the beautiful village of Sillian, Austria. A retired hatmaker in his late 80s, he was politically active in the Pan-European Movement of Otto von Habsburg, and first met Dollinger in the 1990s. He has since passed away. That December when Nardi first told Kiniger about the story of Dollinger and Fatima, the old hatmaker could not believe it. Kiniger did not use the internet and never heard all this about his old friend. For that reason, they agreed to meet again and not only that, but to record what Kiniger knew.

The following is from the transcript of the conversation recorded on January 17, 2017:

“I do not remember the exact date,

” says Kiniger,

“but it was still in the year

2000, I am sure about that. I still remember the press conference [about the publication of the Third Secret of Fatima] in Rome, as it was then shown on television.

“In the fall, I visited again, as usual, Dollinger with whom I am friends for many years. On this occasion, he told me of his having met Cardinal Ratzinger – then Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith – shortly after that [June 2000] press conference. He even then concelebrated with him, something which Dollinger usually does not do, but Ratzinger had invited him to do it.

“After the celebration [of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass], Dollinger spoke with the cardinal and brought up the topic of Fatima and the Third Secret. Ratzinger told him: ‘What we have published is not the whole secret.

In the sacristy, there were also present other priests—some of them high-ranking priests—to whom the cardinal had to attend intermittently. But, he soon returned to Dollinger and said to him: ‘We were instructed to do so.

’ [‘Es ist uns so aufgetragen word -en in German.’] This same sentence Dollinger, a second time, repeated: ‘We were instructed to do so.

’ He [Dollinger] has interpreted these words, as such: namely, that John Paul II wanted it and ordered it this way. This data point could also be interpreted that it could have been ordered from cardinal Angelo Sodano, who was the #2 behind the Pope, author’s addendum.

Kiniger continued, At this meeting, when Dollinger told me all these things, other people were also present.

“In the years to follow, Dollinger told of this episode again and again, several times, at our meetings. Most of the time, there were also several other people present. It was no secret, there was nothing that he kept secret. This is what the Cardinal told him, this is what he passed on to others.

“Sometimes, there were priests and seminarians also sitting with us at the table who came from the seminary of the Fraternity of St. Peter in Wigratzbad, Germany. I do not know their names.

In any event, numerous people have heard this story over the course of the years.

“I personally can witness to the story since the fall of 2000, when Dollinger told it to me for the first time. There is for me no doubt that Professor Dollinger, in whom I have complete trust, has described the story in a truthful manner. What would have been his reason to invent such a conversation and such a content –and so shortly after the press conference at the time – and, then also to tell it freely and openly to everybody who wanted to hear it? That Benedict denies it suddenly, after 16 years, is hard for me to imagine. That seems to me rather implausible. I do not know why, Rome does this. I cannot account for it. It seems as if one wishes to put the lid upon Fatima and to close the case. But, that does not work. But, I do not know why Rome has acted in such a manner.

In summation, we must not forget the notation that the Vatican released in June of 2000, namely what Sister Lucia had written in her words about the assassination at tempt on a man dressed in white. She wrote,

“And if we have not yet seen the complete fulfillment of the final part of this prophecy, we are going towards it little by little with great strides if we do not reject the path of sin....

Beyond the above reports, we bring you a radio Report recorded by the author. It pertains to an interview by Art Bell as host who was speaking to Father Malachi Martin on (April 4, nineteen ninety seven). Art Bell asked him, More than a single punishment?

“Now, what’s the Third Secret? It is rather a dire document, responded Father Martin. It is not pleasant reading at all. I’m under oath not to reveal the actual details of it...I can’t break my oath, but it is not pleasant reading at all.

” “Does this involve a chastisement,” asked Art Bell.

“Yes, several,” responded Rev. Malachi Martin.

Up into the Stars

For most of the last century, astronomers have been securing data through Earth telescopes and the latest array of scopes up in space, notably Hubble. Mathematicians in the world of astronomy, recorded observations of a new asteroid in February 2001 and made them public in July. European astronomers confirmed that it was a colossal asteroid circling near Pluto and it had broken a 200-year old record, displacing the former-champ, Ceres, discovered by Piazzi.

We find that a European Lars L. Christensen of the Hubble European Space Agency publicly went on record stating that it posed no apparent danger of ever colliding with Earth.

In the 1990s, particularly the latter half of that decade, I have discovered that there arose a series of stories connected with killer Earth-asteroids. [This was also the time when the movie Impact was released. Do you remember that flick?]

So from that mini era, we have A procession of stories of impacts on both television and the news media that had entered the picture.

Minor planets, asteroids, planetoids, rocks on steroids or colossal meteors—call them what you will—whatever designation, these minor planets, have scored near misses on the Earth. In 1932, Apollo came pretty close to Earth, about, 3,000,000 kilometers. In 1937, Hermes passed closer, to within 680,000 kilometers (422,532 miles.) Hermes is only a mile across. On March 8, 2002, an asteroid designated 2002 EM7 passed about 279,000 miles from the Earth’s orbit, an asteroid larger than the one which struck Tunguska in 1908. On June 27, 2011, an asteroid passed 7,500 miles from the Earth’s orbit. But that asteroid was only the size of a bus. A giant asteroid— size of an aircraft carrier—YU55 passed about 200,000 miles from Earth on November 8. But that asteroid continued into the outer limits of the solar system.

On February, 15, 2013, and I bet you remember this one, a super bolide exploded right over Chelyabinsk, Russia, and pictures of it are found all over the internet and in Historical Keypoints # four.

The closest our Moon ever approaches Earth is about 200,000, miles. In 2020, the closest approach of Asteroid 1998 OR2, was some 6 million kilometers away. In 2020, the closest approach of any asteroid of size was 2020 SW that passed some 21,000 kilometers away; or 13,431 miles from us, however, it was puny compared to 1998 OX 4, which was like only 14 to 32 feet in diameter, however, unless it hits you on the head, then it is not that puny.

Perhaps, another Potentially Hazardous Asteroid to keep a watch will be Apophis (99942), an asteroid the size of 3 to 5 football fields. I remember it was in the mainstream news a few years back, but according to the latest figures from scientists, they rule out the close runs in 2029 and 2068 as hits, but not next century. According to Earth Sky, Ah pof hisss will still fly pretty close, at a distance of 31,643 km (or 19,662 miles or .000437 AU) from Earth. It actually whizzed by us at a far-away 10 million miles from us— from March 8 to the tenth, 2021.

Ah pof his comes from ancient Egyptology, which for your information, was a serpent, and it sought to bring eternal darkness. Oh, one more data point. Incidentally, Conchita said the event of the warning begins with the letter A.—

Yes.
the letter A.

Hope that does not pan out.
That, may, or not, mean anything.
Final few Words for a Conclusion

The Vatican leadership during this time, apply themselves— slicing up the main messages of Fatima by 4 simple rules. Which has yet to change since the closing of Vatican II, December of 1965:

- 1) Hide the main message as if behind a venetian blind.
- 2) Make it sound as if many things connected to Our Lady Of Fatima is not that important.
- 3) Relegate everything pertaining to Fatima as a thing of “the past”.
- 4) The continuity of not attacking Communist influence by way of Fatima.

In our spatial times, the Blessed Mother wishes only to bring more people closer to God. As you think, about Our Blessed Mother connected to Fatima, or Lourdes, La Salette, Garabandal, or Akita, she has always striven to bring us closer to her son, Jesus Christ.

In the portals of our time, according to an excerpt that is traced by scholars that comes to us from nineteen forty three, is the existence of a May 27, 1943 letter. In the words of Sister

Lucia's, with the qualifier "ME" representing the son of God, who in His super natural and mystical way chose to communicate with her, said,

"I very ardently desire.

the propagation of the cult and devotion to the Immaculate Heart of Mary.
because that Heart is, the magnet which attracts souls to Me. The Heart which radiates on the Earth, the rays of My light.

and, of My love, the inexhaustible source which causes to pour over the Earth the living waters of My Mercy.

These last words are the most essential part of the message of Fatima. Now, we ask you to go to page 318 and page 346, and read the links found on each page, and you have concluded these series of audios.
