

On the internet there is a website devoted to history www.castlesof-themind.com (A website with the right touch.

That transports you to the era of World War II.)

Author: Robert C. Valentine

A Toast For You and Me, America's Participation, Sacrifice and Victory.

Vol 1

+ What makes the WW II book so special?

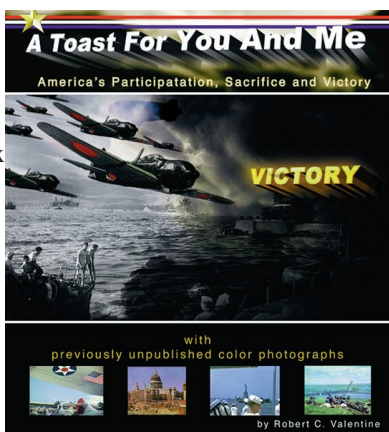

* Rare color photography; Years 1917-1941
Details U.S. Neutrality with every Neutrality Law examined; Blue West One; MIPU; relationship between Fascism and Communism.

* What defines the new world orders?
The powerful State examined; Germany 1921-1941 and rise of Nazi Party, Hans von Seeckt, Gustav Stresemann, E. Kirdhoff, Franz von Papen; F. Konoye; appendices of Pres. Roosevelt speeches 102 pictures in color
over 50 b/w illustrations
special Ernie Pyle report from the Battle of Britain U.S. National Emergency rise of Imperial Japan; Lend-Lease, 5th Columns; greatest spy roundup in U.S. History...and more.

Jesse Owens
1936

at the Finish Line
in color

Historical index

non-fiction

192 pages

$16.95 retail

Vol 2

+ What makes the WW II book so special?

* Rare color photography of 1942
Dr. Seuss cartoons; The Home Front in detail; Superb book of the U.S. Participation and all her candid problems. Easy reading narrative.

* intriguing history of Americans
You get to learn all this:
Fight for Survival,
Fleet of Modernism; blackouts; domestic issues and espionage; streamlined art; real Saboteurs; Madame X; Fall of Asia;
* One world order dominance;
Civilian Defense; Guadalcanal;
Hollywood; Walt Disney; Doolittle;
North Africa; Secretive Ascension Island;
Midway in even more rare color, never before published in any other book, until now; Robert Sherwood; Glenn Miller; Ernie Pyle; Carole Lombard; Frank Sinatra in a color photo no one else in the whole world has...and more.

Historical index

non-fiction

researched since 1982

296 pages

$32.98 retail

Visit our informative website.

Packed with movies and interesting information.

History need not be boring

I welcome you to visit.

LOOK for WW II COUPON